

10/10

ABSTRACT

A bow string release strap assembly is adapted to wrap around the hand while providing maximum freedom of movement for the thumb and protection of the index or trigger finger from a rubbing or chaffing action. The strap assembly includes an integral attachment strap which permits ease of placement and attachment of the strap assembly to the wrist and hand, with a quick release mechanism. The thumb and palm are free and unencumbered and the back of the hand is covered with a soft, cushioned pad providing maximum comfort to the archer. The strap mechanism is adapted for carrying any of large variety of bow string releases.

09293858.04.1699
669140.8586260